NT Teaching:

Romans 9:1-5 NASB

I am telling the truth in Christ, I am not lying, my conscience testifies with me in the Holy Spirit, [2] that I have great sorrow and unceasing grief in my heart. [3] For I could wish that I myself were accursed, separated from Christ for the sake of my brethren, my kinsmen according to the flesh, [4] who are Israelites, to whom belongs the adoption as sons, and the glory and the covenants and the giving of the Law and the temple service and the promises, [5] whose are the fathers, and from whom is the Christ according to the flesh, who is over all, God blessed forever. Amen.

Romans 11:1-2 NASB

I say then, God has not rejected His people, has He? May it never be! For I too am an Israelite, a descendant of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin. [2] God has not rejected His people whom He foreknew. Or do you not know what the Scripture says in the passage about Elijah, how he pleads with God against Israel?

Romans 11:25-27 NASB

For I do not want you, brethren, to be uninformed of this mystery-so that you will not be wise in your own estimation-that a partial hardening has happened to Israel until the fullness of the Gentiles has come in; [26] and so all Israel will be saved; just as it is written, "The DELIVERER WILL COME FROM ZION, HE WILL REMOVE UNGODLINESS FROM JACOB." [27] "This IS MY COVENANT WITH THEM, When I TAKE AWAY THEIR SINS."

"Despite the less frequent use of "nation," Israel as "the people of God" was a national entity. Acknowledging that the Old Testament does not provide a precise definition of a nation, Ronald E. Clements identifies three major elements that are relevant, namely, race, government, and territory. All three elements are evident in the Old Testament picture of Israel.

Even though, as previously noted, the common racial origin was expressed more in the concept of “people,” Israel traced its origin as a “nation” back to Abraham (cf. Ge 12:2; 17:6; 18:18). Likewise, beginning at Sinai, Israel had a government. In the Mosaic covenant, according to Martin Buber, “YHWH unites with Israel into a political, theo-political unity.” The request for a king “such as all the nations have” (1Sa 8:5) demonstrates not only the normal form of government for that time, but the inherent connection of government with the concept of a nation. The third main aspect of a nation involves the possession of its own territory (cf. Isa 36:18–20; Ps 105:44). The many promises about a land for the descendants of Abraham who would constitute the promised nation (cf. Ge 12:7; 17:5) and the later possession of that land under Joshua demonstrate that Israel also bore this mark of a nation.”

“Israel stands for the people and also the land...The use of the word Israel in general clearly maintains the connection with the reality and hope of Israel.”
